

Assumption of Risk

Acknowledgment & Agreement

Stem for You LLC, doing business as STEM4U ("STEM4U," "we," "us," "our")
21690 Red Rum Dr #182, Ashburn, VA 20147

STEM4U programs are intentionally hands-on. Participants (children ages 6–18) work in a real engineering workshop using tools, materials, and equipment, and may take part in competitions, events, and travel. This document explains the inherent risks of these activities and asks you, as the parent or legal guardian, to acknowledge and voluntarily assume those risks on behalf of yourself and your child.

About our activities

During STEM4U programs, participants may: build and operate robots; use hand tools and power tools; operate or work near a CNC machine, 3D printers, and soldering and electronics equipment (including hot surfaces and fumes); handle small parts, wiring, and batteries (including lithium batteries); lift and carry equipment; and take part in team competitions, field trips, demonstrations, and travel to and from events.

Inherent risks

Even with careful supervision, training, and safety rules, these activities carry inherent risks that cannot be completely eliminated. Those risks include, but are not limited to:

- Cuts, burns, pinches, punctures, and abrasions
- Eye injury and electric shock
- Exposure to heat, fumes, dust, solder, or adhesives
- Slips, trips, and falls; strains from lifting
- Injury from moving robots, tools, or equipment, or from other participants
- Allergic reactions
- Damage to or loss of personal property
- Risks associated with travel to and participation in competitions and events

In rare cases, injuries can be serious.

Your acknowledgment and assumption of risk

I understand and acknowledge these inherent risks. I confirm that my child is in suitable physical condition to participate, and I have disclosed any condition that may affect participation. I agree that my child will follow all STEM4U safety rules and staff instructions. Knowing the risks, I voluntarily choose to enroll my child, and I assume the inherent risks of participation on behalf of myself, my child, and our family.

Nothing in this document is intended to release STEM4U from liability for its own gross negligence or willful misconduct, and nothing here waives any right that cannot be waived under the laws of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

By signing below, I acknowledge that I have read and understood this Assumption of Risk and voluntarily agree to it.
